

WORD COMPOSITION IN THE KARAKALPAK LANGUAGE
COMPARATIVELY WITH ENGLISH

V. Usenova*

*Nukus State Pedagogical Institute,
Nukus, UZBEKISTAN

DOI: 10.5958/2249-7315.2022.00176.9

ABSTRACT

The actuality of the article is conditioned by the further investigation of productive ways of word formation in modern English in comparison with other languages. In spite of the fact that there are many works devoted to the issues of word formation, the language system is changeable and at different periods of time some ways of word formation become popular and productive, some of them become secondary. Thus, word composition is one of the productive ways of word formation in modern English.

KEYWORDS: Word Composition, Word Formation, Compound Word, Comparative Study, English, Karakalpak.

REFERENCES

1. Арнольд И.В. Лексикология современного английского языка. Москва. 1981.
2. Bloomfield L. Language. London, 1955.
3. Guinzburg R.S. and others. A course in Modern English lexicology. Moscow, 1979.
4. Antrushina G.B., Afanasyeva O.V., Morozova N.N. English Lexicology. Moscow, 1985.
5. Хэзиргиқарақалпақәдәбийтилиниңграмматикасы. Нөкис, 1994.
6. Шанский Н.М. Очерки по русскому словообразованию. Москва, 1968.