ABSTRACT

The given article is dedicated to the ways of transferring relationship terms in English and Karakalpak languages. Using the method of componential analysis in studying of lexical-semantic groups of lexical units (lexical-semantic field) is more economic and therefore more acquitted. For Karakalpak and English systems of relationship terms it is typically, first of all, that the features of classification system are preserved in it.

KEYWORDS: Terms Of Relationship, Componential Analysis, Lexical-Semantic Field, Hyperonyms, Hyponyms, Lexical Suppletivism.
