

PECULIARITIES OF DEVELOPING INSURANCE SYSTEMS IN AGRICULTURE AND CLASSIFICATION OF THE FACTORS INFLUENCING IT

N. A. Soliyeva*

*Phd Student,
The International Center of Strategic Development and Investigations,
Sphere of Food and Agriculture,
UZBEKISTAN
Email id: nasoliyeva@mail.ru

DOI: 10.5958/2249-7323.2022.00032.3

ABSTRACT

The article summarizes the specifics of the insurance system in the face of new risks in agriculture, and also classifies the factors influencing the development of the industry by their origin. Insurance is one of the strongest financial factors which are especially important among different measures taken for the accomplishment of supplying the balanced development of agrarian sphere. It is impossible to provide the stability of economy without developing the insurance system which is considered to be the important branch of the market infrastructure.

KEYWORDS: Insurance, Insurance Types, Insurance Case, Danger, Factors, Features.

REFERENCES:

1. The law of the Republic of Uzbekistan “On insurance activity”.
2. The order No. PQ-52 “On measures of supporting the sphere of fruit-vegetables by the government, further development of cluster and cooperation systems" adopted on December 15, 2021 by the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan. Lex.uz
3. The order No. 505 “About developing the insurance system of future crop of cotton raw material and cereal plants” adopted on June 17, 2019 by the Cabinet of Ministers.Lex.uz
4. T.V.Shumilina “Insurance of risks agricultural organizations in conditions of governmental support”, Abstract of the dissertation for gaining the degree of candidate of economic sciences, Specialty 08.00.10 –Finance, money circulation and credits. Samara 2012. P 10.